The Silk Lab is a workshop producing a variety of homemade fashion and home décor silk accessories, such as bags, wallets, ties, scarves, table cloths and photo frames.

It was created in 2005 by the joint efforts of KADO and Progetto Continenti, respectively Cambodian and Italian NGOs, and with the support of AusAid, Italian Caritas, Charle Magne Foundation and other private donors.

The Silk Lab mission is to provide social and economical security to disadvantaged women living in Puok district, one of the poorest districts in Cambodia. The women, all aged between 17 and 27, have been trained to become professional seamstresses.

In this way the Silk Lab has given them the opportunity to take their future into their own hands!

The Silk Lab is in its infancy and it is working hard to achieve sustainability as well as generate income to support the Sangkheum Center, a center of education for neglected and disadvantaged children in Siem Reap.

In our road to success, any profit we get is a small step closer to our objectives!
